Tour Briefing:

Arrive at the surf camp accommodation where you'll be greeted by our guide and onsite staff.

Lessons:

In the first lesson you'll be taken straight to the beach and receive a talk on tides and conditions, how to identify the safest part of the beach to surf, followed by paddling technique.

Once you feel comfortable with this, your instructor will then go on to teach you how to stand up on your board and take you into the water to experience catching your first wave. Most people will stand up within the first lesson.

Each lesson is two hours long and will progress from the previous one. You'll be provided with lunch and a rest period in between.

After your lessons, it's time to relax. Eg. Unwind in a hammock, go for a walk along the National Park beach, watch DVD's, get to know other surfers, visit the local pub overlooking the ocean etc.

Day 2:

Start the day to the tunes provided by surf camp staff and meet for breakfast. You'll be given some time to get ready for your first lesson and then it's straight to the beach.

Lessons:

You'll have 2 x 2hour lessons with lunch and a rest period in between.

After your lessons, it's time to relax.

Day 3:

All you've dreamt about is getting back into the water! After breakfast you'll be given some time to get ready for your first lesson and hit the beach.

Day 3 is a similar plan as the previous day, however, you'll continuously be building on your surfing techniques, making turns and riding across the wave.

Day 4:

Start your day off in a similar way to Days 2 and 3. This is your last day at Surf Camp so make the most of those waves.

You'll have 2x 2hour lessons as usual with a lunch and rest period in between. After your last lesson, you'll be given time to pack and get ready for the journey back to Sydney.
